Scanga was a student first at Adams State College and then joined the administration for over 20 years. Bill Mansheim, vice president of Finance and Administration, believes his commitment helped many a great story.

He said, "Thanks, Rich, for 24 years of hard-work, integrity, and for being a friend." Scanga believes he was fortunate to have been associated with the college for 30 years. He said, "I started taking classes January 1971, and retired in January 2005. I have truly enjoyed all the years I have been here. I will miss the staff of the Business Offices, they are a dedicated staff and very knowledgeable. It has been a pleasure to work with the students and I will miss that environment."

Science, Mathematics and Technology has two faculty members retiring this year. Dr. Matthew Nehring, chair Chemistry/Mathematics/Physics, remarked on Loser's commitment even during her last semester teaching.

...ained one of my go-to faculty members by my thankless tasks even as she neared days gave 100 percent to the department and Lyn thanked the faculty and staff for 22 am so fortunate and rich to have met so dents and colleagues. And now I'm anxious faces of retired faculty."

of Sveum's tenure at Adams State College. ed as dean when the budget was tight and n for creative action. His biggest s restructuring the science curriculum. He is things physical. I will miss most his friendly nature."

Although Sveum's time at the college wasn't long, it was significant. He said, "Six years is not a long time. This institution has grown on me. I appreciate all the folks coming tonight and the friends I have met."
