Catalog Description:

A survey of United States history from pre-Colombian times to the end of the Civil War.

Student Learning Outcomes:

The student will:

- Be able to identify historical content in context for the historical period covered in this course.
- Be able to knowledgeably discuss the significance of major themes, key concepts, and identifiable terms as related to the social, political, and intellectual history of the period, as demonstrated through the student's writing and examinations.
- Demonstrate appropriate historical writing and analysis skills by producing acceptable essays on the two assigned monographs.
- Course Requirements:
  - Reading Assignments
- The course is divided into three units. The student should read the text as detailed in the lessons. Keep in mind that you are reading in order to acquire a framework on which you can view this period of history in terms of key content and identifiable terms. Rather than being expected to memorize dates of events, you will be asked to demonstrate that you have developed an understanding not only of what happened, but of the overall significance of that event to the historical period. In addition to top line events (such as those that might appear in newspaper headlines of the time), you are reading for social, political, and intellectual content. What key concepts or core ideas are prevalent at the time? How are these ideas influencing social and political history? What are the key conflicts taking place? Who are the players? What are the core ideas or concepts underlying these conflicts? The KEY TERMS that you should pay attention to in each chapter of the three units are listed in the module overviews.
- At the end of each unit of study are three or four essay questions. You should write out your answers to each one of these questions, making sure that your answers are defensible; that is, that you can support the argument you are making utilizing specific citations from the historical record. Please refer to the rubric presented later in this syllabus for guidance on how to construct an essay response based on (a.) structure, (b.) evidence, and (c.) quality of writing. YOUR UNIT EXAMINATION WILL CONSIST OF ONE OF THESE FOUR ESSAY QUESTIONS, PLUS A LIST OF

EIGHT KEY TERMS. YOU WILL BE EXPECTED TO CHOOSE FIVE OF THE EIGHT TERMS THAT APPEAR ON THE EXAM. YOU WILL BE ASKED TO EXPLAIN EACH TERM AND IDENTIFY THE SIGNIFICANCE OF EACH TO THE HISTORICAL PERIOD.

- Examinations

- There are three units of study in this course, with a proctored examination at the end of each unit. As stated above, each examination will consist of a list of eight identification terms, from which you will choose five. The examination will also include one of the essay questions for which you have already prepared a response.
- Each exam is worth 50 points. The essay is worth 35 points (70%). The identification items (significant terms) are worth 3 points each or 15 points total (30%). The FINAL EXAMINATION will be a proctored exam and will be included in the exam for Unit Three and will be worth an additional 50 points. The comprehensive examination section will include an essay question drawn from one of the three units of study (and for which you have previously prepared) and will be worth 35 points. There will be an additional list of identification items drawn from the entire course of study. Again, there will be eight items on this list, from which you will choose five. The comprehensive identification items are also worth three points each for a total of 15 points.

Monograph Essays

In addition to the unit reading assignments and examinations, students will be expected to read the two monographs listed in the Required Materials section of this syllabus and complete a four-page essay (double-spaced, 1 inch margins all around) using the information in the book to argue a defensible response to the questions I've posed for each one. (See questions below.) Essays will be submitted through the SafeAssign links in each Unit Overview. The essays will be run through plagiarism detection tools. Plagiarism is a serious academic offense and may result in a score of zero and further discipline action. See the Adams State College Student Handbook for more information.

Monograph Essay Questions

McCulloch monograph essay. (Due at the end of Unit One.) In 1775, George Washington assumed command of colonial forces encamped around Boston. In the next 18 months, he effected several successes and endured many setbacks. Appraise his performance as a General and provide specific examples to support your conclusions.

Cohen monograph essay. (Due at the end of Unit Two.) The murder of Helen Jewett was a story of sexual violence, social class, and media sensation. In what ways does this lurid tale inform us about the transformations wrought by the market revolution in the mid-19th century?
