ED 589: Positive Classroom Discipline

Facilitator
Chayne Boutillette (chayne@slvmhc.org)
Division of Extended Studies
Adams State College
Alamosa, CO  81101

Prerequisites: Baccalaureate degree (This is a graduate-level course.)
Course Credit (1.0 or 2.0 semester hour(s)

Materials
- Teaching with Love and Logic: Taking Control of the Classroom, Jim Fay and David Funk
- Discipline with Love and Logic Resource Guide (received with study guide).

Course Objectives
- Students will be able to describe the Love and Logic process for developing responsible children
- Students will be able to recognize and apply the four basic principles of discipline with Love and Logic
- Students will be able to identify the ownership of problems
- Students will be able to develop techniques for guiding children to own and solve their own problems
- Students will develop techniques that use natural, logical and delayed consequences.
- Student will understand the role of compassion and empathy in enhancing self-concept.
- Students will be able to identify alternative disciplinary interventions
- Students will be able to create a school-wide discipline plan based on Love and logic philosophy.